Welcome Message

Welcome to this month's ChattBricks Newsletter! We're excited to connect adult LEGO fans (18+) from across the TAG Corner as we share updates, celebrate creativity, and look ahead to another great month of building fun. Whether you're a new member or a returning fan, we're glad you're here—let's keep building together!

Minifig Spotlight

This month's spotlight shines on the Explorer Minifigure, complete with backpack, map, and compass. Known for curiosity and adventure, the Explorer reminds us to seek new builds, bold ideas, and creative challenges. Bring your adventure-themed MOCs to our next meet-up!

A Legendary Starship in LEGO Form

LEGO's Star Trek U.S.S. Enterprise NCC-1701-D captures the spirit of exploration that defined Star Trek: The Next Generation. With its iconic saucer section, graceful nacelles, and commanding presence, the Enterprise-D represents diplomacy, curiosity, and hope for the future.

Recreated in LEGO form, the starship becomes more than a display piece—it's a tribute to storytelling through design. For adult builders and Star Trek fans alike, the Enterprise-D reminds us that space isn't just about where we go, but how we imagine the journey.

MONTHLY MEETINGS AT SCENIC CITY BRICKS

ChattBricks meets every month at Scenic City Bricks in Soddy-Daisy, TN for a relaxed, fun evening of LEGO building, sharing, and connecting with fellow Adult Fans of LEGO (18+). Whether you bring a MOC, a favorite set, or just your creativity, our meet-ups are the perfect place to trade ideas, showcase builds, and make new friends across the TAG Corner.

Meetings are held Sundays from 6–8 PM EST. Adults 18+ only. All skill levels welcome.

Vintage 1980 “Town Square – Castle Scene” Set Revisited

Story by: Dustin Ray Shannon

The vintage LEGO set 1592 Town Square – Castle Scene, released in 1980, remains a gem for adult fans and collectors alike. Originally a Weetabix cereal promotional set in the UK and later sold through German toy retailers, this unique model combines two classic LEGO themes—Town and Castle—in one charming layout. With 471 pieces and 11 minifigures, the set captures a lively festival atmosphere where medieval guards mingle with townsfolk beside a small castle facade, a fish-and-chips stand, and a quaint bookstore kiosk.

Its blend of everyday town life with castle elements reflects LEGO’s early experimentation with mixed themes, bridging historic and modern play worlds. Collectors prize this set not only for its nostalgia but also for its rarity and strong market value—sealed originals can fetch thousands today. For adult builders, 1592 offers both a snapshot of LEGO history and inspiration to blend interplay and storytelling in modern builds—reminding us that creativity and community have always been at the heart of the LEGO experience.

Our Club Logo

The ChattBricks logo features the classic 1976 Thatcher Perkins Locomotive, celebrating Chattanooga’s rail heritage and the creativity of LEGO builders. Its bold colors and vintage design reflect the spirit, imagination, and community at the heart of our 18+ club.
